Dear Resident

As a resident of Dale Street, you would be aware that from time to time the street is prone to flooding during periods of heavy rain.

Given that it is several years since a flood event has affected Dale Street, Council is reminding all residents that procedures are in place to assist and alert residents during times of inundation.

Council operates several rainfall and flood gauge stations in the Burpengary Creek catchment which are monitored by Council officers during periods of heavy rain. The gauges allow Council to assess the likely impact of heavy rain events and alert residents accordingly.

Residents of Dale Street will receive a first warning of potential flooding a couple of hours ahead of inundation. This warning will be communicated in person by SES or Council staff and will alert residents that water levels are expected to exceed 200mm on the actual roadway. Residents will be advised to relocate vehicles to higher ground and to commence moving valuable items from ground level to higher floors.

A second warning (if required) will be issued in person by SES or Council staff if properties are expected to be inundated and evacuation is advised. Residents should consider this possibility in advance and have contingency plans in place for alternative accommodation.

Residents are urged to keep this information handy for future reference. For more information about Council's warning procedures, please contact Council's Roads and Drains, Programmed Maintenance Manager, Edwin Hamill on [REDACTED]

Yours faithfully

ANNEX 3

Natural hazard management areas

Flood

- A3.1 A natural hazard management area (flood) is land inundated by a Defined Flood Event (DFE)³³ and identified in a planning scheme.
- A3.2 The Queensland Government's position is that, generally, the appropriate flood event for determining a natural hazard management area (flood) is the 1% Annual Exceedance Probability (AEP) flood. However, it may be appropriate to adopt a different DFE depending on the circumstances of individual localities. This is a matter that should be reviewed when preparing or undertaking relevant amendments to a planning scheme. Local governments proposing to adopt a lower DFE in their planning scheme to determine a natural hazard management area (flood) for a particular locality will be expected to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Department of Emergency Services (DES) and the Department of Natural Resources and Mines (NR&M) that the proposed DFE is appropriate to the circumstances of the locality³⁴.

Bushfire

- A3.3 A natural hazard management area (bushfire) is:
- a) an area identified by a local government in its planning scheme consistent with the conclusions of a bushfire hazard assessment prepared in accordance with Appendix 3 of the SPP Guideline or other methodology approved by the Queensland Fire and Rescue Service (QFRS); or
 - b) where such a study has not been undertaken, an area identified by a local government in its planning scheme, reflecting the Medium and High hazard area of the Bushfire Risk Analysis maps produced by the QFRS, suitably modified following a visual assessment of the accuracy of the maps by the local government; or
 - c) where an area has not been identified by a local government, the Medium and High hazard areas on the Bushfire Risk Analysis maps produced by the QFRS.

Landslide

- A3.4 A natural hazard management area (landslide) is:
- a) an area identified by a local government in its planning scheme consistent with the conclusions of a landslide hazard assessment prepared in accordance with Appendix 4 of the SPP Guideline; or
 - b) where such a study has not been undertaken, an area identified by a local government in its planning scheme and including all land of 15% and greater slope and other land known or suspected by the local government as being geologically unstable, together with other areas that the local government considers may be adversely affected by a landslide event,³⁵ or

³³ See Section 9, Glossary.

³⁴ Local Governments are encouraged to adopt a DFE and identify natural hazard management areas (flood) in a planning scheme as soon as possible to enable the application of the SPP to development in flood prone areas. Appendix 2 in the SPP Guideline gives examples of simple flood study alternatives that may be appropriate for interim use until comprehensive flood studies are completed, or for longer-term use by low-growth local governments with capacity and resource constraints. Appendix 2 also provides guidance on the key issues to be considered when determining an appropriate DFE.

³⁵ For example, land below an area known or suspected as being geologically unstable that may be affected by debris flows.

5.7 A default mechanism for flood hazard management was not adopted for the SPP as reliable statewide flood data was not available. Therefore, the development assessment components of the SPP apply in relation to flood only where a local government has adopted a DFE for managing development, and that DFE has been translated into a natural hazard management area (flood) identified in the planning scheme. A local government wishing to address flood issues urgently could identify a natural hazard management area (flood) and appropriate development assessment criteria in a temporary local planning instrument prior to making or amending the planning scheme.

5.8 In relation to flood hazard management, the SPP sets out the State's position that generally, the appropriate flood event for determining a natural hazard management area (flood) is the 1% Annual Exceedance Probability (AEP) flood. However, the SPP recognises that the adoption of a lower DFE may be appropriate depending on the circumstances of individual localities. The adoption of a lower DFE would require the local government to demonstrate by thorough analysis that the proposed level of flood protection is appropriate to the circumstances of the locality.¹⁶

6. DEVELOPMENT OUTCOMES AND DEVELOPMENT ASSESSMENT

Introduction

6.1 The following sections provide guidance on how to achieve the SPP Outcomes 1 to 3.

Achieving Outcomes 1 and 2 of the SPP

Outcome 1: Within natural hazard management areas, development to which this SPP applies is compatible with the nature of the natural hazard¹⁷, except where:

- the development proposal is a development commitment¹⁸; or
- there is an overriding need for the development in the public interest, and no other site is suitable and reasonably available for the proposal.

6.2 Figure 2 sets out the process for achieving Outcomes 1 and 2. The following subsections provide advice and guidance on the implementation of each of the steps.

¹⁶ Refer to Appendix 2 for advice on the issues to be considered when determining an appropriate DFE.

¹⁷ See Section 9, Glossary.

¹⁸ See Section 9, Glossary.

Natural hazard management area (flood)

- A2.7 A natural hazard management area (flood) is described in Annex 3 of the SPP as land inundated by a DFE and identified in a planning scheme. The Queensland Government's position is that, generally, the appropriate flood event for determining a natural hazard management area (flood) is the 1% AEP flood. However, it may be appropriate to adopt a different DFE depending on the circumstances of individual localities. This is a matter that should be reviewed when preparing or undertaking relevant amendments to a planning scheme. Local governments proposing to adopt a lower DFE in their planning scheme to determine a natural hazard management area (flood) for a particular locality will be expected to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Department of Emergency Services (DES) and the Department of Natural Resources and Mines (NR&M) that the proposed DFE is appropriate to the circumstances of the locality.³⁹
- A2.8 Outcome 4 of the SPP requires natural hazard management areas for flood to be identified in planning schemes. Natural hazard management areas (flood) trigger the development outcomes and development assessment requirements specified in Outcomes 1 and 2 of the SPP, and are also required to enable the development of the planning strategies and detailed measures required by Outcomes 5 and 6 of the SPP.
- A2.9 In identifying natural hazard management areas (flood), a local government will need to select a DFE. Selection of a DFE does not mean more extreme flood events (up to the PMF) will not occur. Residual risk (i.e. the risk of a flood that exceeds the DFE) should be addressed in Local Government Counter Disaster Plans and emergency procedures.
- A2.10 NR&M has developed the following advice for identifying natural hazard management areas (flood).

Methodology for identifying natural hazard management area (flood)

- A2.11 Natural hazard management areas (flood) ideally should be determined from a comprehensive floodplain management study. The process outlined in Floodplain Management in Australia: Best Practice Principles and Guidelines (the Standing Committee on Agriculture and Resource Management (SCARM) Report) is recommended when undertaking a floodplain management study and preparing a floodplain management plan.
- A2.12 In its most comprehensive form, a floodplain management study set out in the SCARM Report can be time-consuming and expensive. It may be beyond the capacity or needs of some local governments, particularly those with low growth and a low rate base.

³⁹ Local Governments are encouraged to adopt a DFE and identify a natural hazard management area (flood) in their planning schemes as soon as possible to enable the outcomes of the SPP to development in flood prone areas. This Appendix gives examples of simple flood study alternatives that may be appropriate for interim use until comprehensive flood studies are completed, or for longer-term use by low-growth local governments with capacity and resource constraints.
